Community Safety Review Update from Ally Tufenkjian

"News" I would share is that Strategy Matters was in town the week of Juneteenth for the Community Safety Assessment. They did a focus group with Bugbee seniors, which I heard was a success, but they didn't get good turnout for the Town Hall forums and were planning to be at the Block Party, but that got postponed. They're probably going to do some strategizing to have a stronger round of focus group engagement in the coming weeks. They are getting good survey turnout with 300ish responses so far, and they're happy with the diversity of respondents.
